

The Home Learning Guide for Students and Families

How to Be an Amazing Home Learner

To continue learning to best of your ability, it's important to get three things right:

Routines

Check your emails and assignments at the same time every day. Try to go to bed and get up at the same time.

Communication

Proactively communicate with those around you, share your learning with parents at the end of the day

Organisation

Review what you have to do and know what you are working on next.

Organise your resources by subject.

Have paper and pen to write notes.

Motivation

Motivation can be challenging at the best of times, more so now that their normal routine is disrupted. Consider the following:

Learning flourishes in a positive environment. As humans, we all need positive feedback. Support your other family member and be kind.

Take it step by step. Break tasks down into small steps. These steps can be as small as gathering the correct equipment. This will give you the motivation to tackle larger tasks, making them aware that not everything needs to be completed all at once.

Review Progress. Look at what you have achieved so far! This will encourage you to continue to produce quality work and talk about future success.

See the bigger picture. Remember your 'why'! Why are you doing this work? Why is important? Why will this work help you in the next phase of your life?
